Globalization, Uncertainty and Youth in Society

The Losers in a Globalizing World

Edited by Hans-Peter Blossfeld, director of the GLOBALIFE program and Professor and Chair in Comparative Sociology at the Otto-Friedrich University of Bamberg, Erik Klijzing, Executive Director of the International Union for the Scientific Study of Population in France, Melinda Mills, Assistant Professor in the Department of Socio-Cultural Sciences at the Vrije University, Amsterdam, and Karin Kurz, Assistant Professor in the Faculty of Social and Economic Sciences at the Otto-Freidrich University of Bamberg.

Examining how youths in fourteen industrialized societies make the transition to adulthood in an era of globalization and rising uncertainty, this collection of essays investigates the impact that institutions working with social groups of youths have upon those youths' abilities to make adult decisions determining their life courses.

Covering both Europe and North America, the book includes case studies, and contains country-specific contributions on conservative, social-democratic, post-socialist, liberal and familistic welfare regimes, as well as data from the GLOBALIFE project.

Filling the gap in the market on the micro effects of globalization on individuals, and taking an empirical approach to the topic, this impressive volume brings the individual and nation-specific institutions back into the discussion on globalization.
